The fund has sustainable investment objectives aligned with SFDR article 9 criteria. These objectives are:

- make money work for environmental and social change
- contribute to the transition to an economy within planetary boundaries
- contribute to the transition to an economy where all humans can enjoy a prosperous life.

Triodos Pioneer Impact Fund aims to generate positive impact and competitive financial returns from a concentrated portfolio of small- and mid-cap companies pioneering the transition to a sustainable society.

The fund mainly invests in equities of companies in developed countries and whose products or services contribute to at least one of the following transitions: resource transition, energy transition, food transition, societal transition or wellbeing transition.

Highlights

- Triodos Pioneer Impact Fund generated a return (after costs) of -2.88%, while the benchmark yielded -5.46%.
- Equity markets had the worst month since March 2020 - the month when Corona broke out - in euro terms. The strengthening of the euro added to the losses. Like in February, the continuing threat of potential tariffs for several countries by US President Trump had its negative effect on sentiment. Small-and midcaps performed better than their large cap counterparts, and perform in line for the year 2025.
- The fund ended the month in negative territory, but it performed sharply better than the broader market. In particular the telecom and utility holdings performed well. The shares of Millicom, KPN, Terna, California Water and United Utilities all booked gains. Also the new holding to the fund, contact lenses manufacturer Cooper did well since it was added. Weaker performers were some of the US Industrials like Acuity, Badger Meter and MSA Safety. The valuation of the fund is attractive and the prospects of the holdings for 2025 look positive. All companies in the fund make profits, while the majority generates free cash flows and pay dividends. The fund's largest sectors are Industrials, Consumer Discretionary and Information Technology. The fund has no exposure to banks and insurers, Energy and Real Estate.
